RANK FILES

CBSE Class 10th English Language & Literature (Code 184)

Topic: Editing Practice (Continuous Paragraph – Multiple Errors) Level: Moderate to Tough

Target Exam: CBSE Board Examination 2026 Total Passages: 10

General Instructions:

- Read each of the following continuous paragraphs carefully.
- Each paragraph contains four grammatical errors embedded within the text (covering tenses, subject-verb agreement, determiners, modals, prepositions, and non-finites).
- Identify the incorrect words and write the corrections in your answer sheet.

Passage 1

The rapid growth of modern cities have led to severe environmental degradation. Urban planners is constantly searching for solutions that can balance development with sustainability. However, much citizens remain oblivious to their role in conserving natural resources. Unless every individual does not take responsibility, the situation will deteriorate further.

Passage 2

Neither the headmaster nor the teachers was aware of the sudden change in the timetable. The announcement was made yesterday, but it was failed to reach the main office on time. Students were expected to assemble at the hall by 9:00 AM sharp. A few student had already arrived, expressing their confusion over the new schedule.

Passage 3

Technology has revolutionized the way we communicate, making distance virtually irrelevant. However, excessive reliance on digital devices could negatively affect mental health. Experts recommend that one should limit their screen time before going to sleep. Failing to do so can result on sleep deprivation and decreased focus.

Passage 4

Scarcely had the teacher entered the classroom when the students stand up to greet her. She asked them to open their books on page forty-five for the reading session. Either Rohan or his friends is responsible for submitting the class assignment today, which were pending since last week.

Passage 5

Not only the athletes but also their coach were thrilled with the remarkable victory at the national stadium. Each of the participants practiced rigorously to achieving this prestigious milestone. Little did the competitors knew about the surprise rules introduced at the final hour. Such dedication as well as perseverance always pave the way for extraordinary success.

Passage 6

The ancient monument, standing tall for centuries, are now facing severe threat from industrial pollution. Acid rain have eroded several delicate marble carvings on the main façade. Visitors is often found littering around the protected premises despite explicit warnings. Unless immediate conservation steps are not initiated, the structure may suffer irreversible damage.

Passage 7

The annual science exhibition was held in Friday in the school auditorium. A large number of parent attended the event to encourage the young inventors. The principal complimented the students for their impressive projects and advised them to keep up their hard work continuously without losing focus.

Passage 8

Hardly had the train arrived to the platform than the passengers rushed toward the doors. The station master warned the crowd that they should not board moving trains. Many commuter was injured during the chaotic rush last year. Safety regulations must be strict enforced by the railway authority.

Passage 9

The captain along with his team members were felicitated by the sports minister yesterday. Each of the players were presented a silver medal and a certificate of excellence. The coach said that the team has worked tirelessly for the tournament. He added that success depends in continuous practice and disciplined routines.

Passage 10

Reading books are one of the most rewarding habits a young student can cultivate. Not only it improves vocabulary, but it also enhances creative thinking skills. A student who read regularly develops better analytical ability. If one dedicates thirty minutes daily, they can complete several books in a year.